Our Company – the Most Unique in the World

Our Company exists in order to respond in the most vigorous, potent way with essential and necessary solutions for challenges to society and civilization that are emerging through critical transformations happening now in our world. IRI has developed fundamental new science and technology serving global and immediate needs in social communication, health, and energy. Our work begins in the domain of health and medicine, with a powerful four-point focus upon public health and communicable infectious diseases including pandemics such as COVID-19.

Our Mission as a Company is to deliver the most optimal means for people as individuals, groups and institutions to achieve and sustain health and vitality, and through such, to attain and sustain wealth and affluence, and in all of this, meaningful purposeful living, all of this in an environment of instability, uncertainty and dramatic change. This is our fundamental mission and set of objectives. Our tactics involve STEMM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics and Medicine). Our activities incorporate both products and services, employing information and knowledge technologies as well as instrumentation, both physical and digital.

Our product-service array in healthcare consists of BioProt, Eyrie, MedAtrium, and VESID, together constituting the “Shuriken Compass”, our four-pronged solution-set for many of the consequences of changing climate, society, economics, and environment, created for institutions as well as individuals. IRI serves the World, all of it, all levels all peoples, and by doing so, we are able to serve everyone better than others.

The hub as well as the circumference of all this and more is OASIS, a comprehensive social environment for communication, collaboration, meeting, education, entertainment and trading in integrated digital and physical operating environments. OASIS begins where all previous social networks and media cannot reach and cannot serve – the provision of deep personalization and purposeful communication and information, beginning with intelligent control of the distribution and flow of resources within medicine and public health.

BioProt provides a permanent and renewable line of defense against surface-contact transmissible contagious disease. All. It is a program of analysis, treatment, and changes in how people do things in their offices, schools, hospitals, stadiums, shops, homes. It is for everyone, everywhere.

MedAtrium provides an answer to the challenge of having timely diagnoses and results for not only infectious diseases but many of the complications that are consequences or complications and comorbidities. It can go everywhere, anytime for everyone.

Eyrie is the most adaptive and responsive medical informatics network of social communications and resource management with an architecture designed for everyone to use everywhere and anytime. It is the answer people want for social distancing and knowing where something is likely to be a problem and where medical and other resources will be needed.

VESID is a new approach to antiviral medicine that can greatly reduce the incidence of serious and indeed any infections to many viral diseases.

We are bringing new solutions to medicine, healthcare, social communications, energy, agriculture, and space. We operate now with collaborative and joint venture partners in other countries around the world.

All technologies, instruments, assays, and protocols employed within MedAtrium and BioProt systems and procedures, and within Eyrie information systems, are fully authorized governmentally for proper and appropriate medical use within respective countries of BioProt / MedAtrium / Eyrie deployment.

VESID is currently in the research stage and its projected consumer-medicine products are proceeding into in vitro and subsequent in vivo experiments and trials. Announcements will be made in the proper course of time.

OASIS is the most unique product operating in both the physical as well as digital world-spaces. It has been designed to provide what is not available elsewhere, from anyone, and it spans, it integrates, cohesively, functions and powers for Communication, for Collaborating, for Meeting, for Educating, for Entertaining, and for Trading in very personalized, private, secure, and creative ways. OASIS is the Future of commodities and futures trading. OASIS is the Future of personalized and profitable gaming and playing. OASIS transforms "virtual reality" worlds into "realizable futures" - and more.

Products and applications of IRI products within the agriculture, energy, and space fields are truly revolutionary advances that will make our business and national partners be strong leaders in our dynamically-changing world. Our sponsors, investors and supporters have a true "leading edge" that empowers them in this century and beyond. The "return on investment" for all IRI sponsors, investors, clients and employees is unmistakable, remarkable, and unparalleled. IRI is positioned to be one of the dominant controlling forces in the remainder of this 21st century and beyond - on Planet Earth, beneath its surface, and far beyond in Space.
